

Child Sexual Abuse Reduction Research Network - Call for Proposals

Valencia, Spain - December 4-5, 2025

The Child Sexual Abuse Research Network seeks to combat online child sexual abuse (CSA) through interdisciplinary workshops that bring together scholars, practitioners, government agencies, and private and not-for-profit organizations from around the world. More specifically, this network brings key researchers and thought leaders together to share their work, foster new collaborations, and develop unified solutions to better address the most pressing issues of online CSA. We welcome submissions across a broad range of areas, including identifying factors associated with offending, the development of forensic tools aimed at improving investigatory practices, the promotion of interventions oriented around reducing victimization, and exploring new ways to support victims, amongst other relevant topics.

This event will be hosted by the University of Valencia on December 4-5. International attendees can easily reach the city via Valencia Airport (VLC), which offers connections to major European hubs. Alternatively, high-speed trains from Madrid provide a fast and convenient travel option. The conference will take place at the Faculty of Law, located on the Tarongers campus. The venue is easily accessible by both public and private transport, including metro, buses, and taxis.

Cost of registration fee (including all event catering), social events, and 2 nights' accommodation in Valencia will be covered by the organizing committee for the lead presenter on all accepted and delivered papers. Co-authors are welcome to attend as registered delegates. Papers can be submitted to a conference proceedings special issue in a leading international academic journal.
